3 STUDIO ALBUMS AND 6 GRAMMY NOMINATIONS

ABOUT

With 3 studio albums and 6 GRAMMY nominations, Joss Favela is the most popular regional Mexican singer-songwriter of the new generation of regional Mexican artists.

In 2021, Joss released his third studio album Llegando al Rancho, which earned him a 2021 Latin GRAMMY® nomination in the Best Band Music Album category and three nominations for Premio Lo Nuestro 2022. 13 songs from 'Llegando al Rancho' were written by the singer-songwriter, including "El Alumno" with Jessi Uribe, which remained on the Top 10 Billboard Regional Mexican Chart for several weeks, and was #1 on the radio in Colombia for 8 weeks, as well as "Tu Adiós Como Tequila," which led the release of the album and reached #1 on Radio Nacional in Mexico. That same year, Joss Favela performed for the first time at the renowned music festival, Tecate Pa'l Norte in Monterrey, Mexico.

More than just a singer-songwriter, Joss Favela has shown his versatility, serving as a Coach for La Voz Kids. He is also currently a Coach on the successful show "La Voz" in Mexico, where he demonstrates his ability to guide young artists.

Additionally, Joss is preparing to release his fourth studio album titled Aclarando La Mente this year. A 12-song LP, Aclarando La Mente will transport us to the 1970s with a norteño style that the singer-songwriter considers his best work to date. Proof of this are his most recent singles "Gato de Madrugada," "700 Días" and "Algo Transitorio." The link between that decade and the norteño style is a tribute to Sergio's father, who in the early 70s received an accordion as a gift from his mother; however, as a result of managing the family ranch he was never able to pursue an artistic career. The accordion was restored by Joss and used to record the songs on the album.

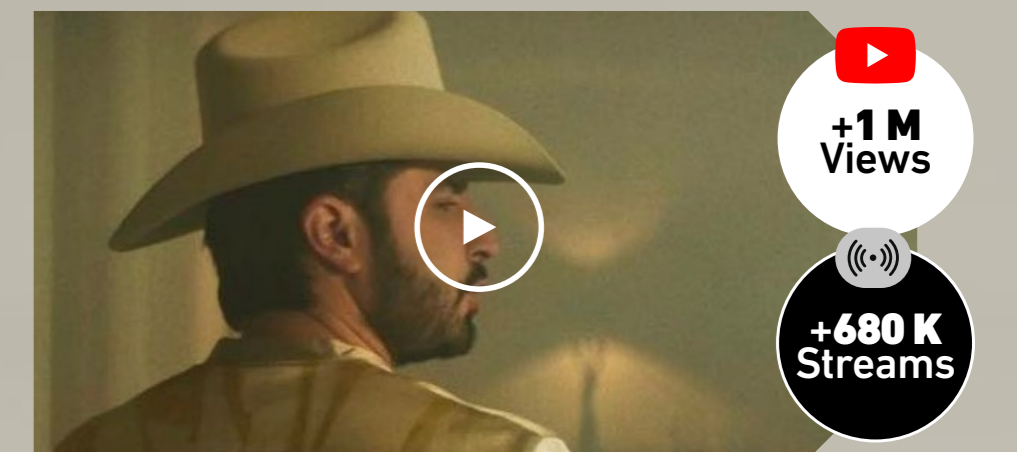

Recently Favela also announced his Tequila y Guaro Tour 2022 across the United States alongside Colombian, Jessi Uribe. With 11 dates beginning in November, the Tequila y Guaro US Tour will mark Joss Favela's first tour of the United States and will feature a live performance of the album Aclarando la Mente, as well as his greatest hits.
